

A master class by Terrence McManus and Gerry Hemingway focuses primarily on the art of improvisation in a format that seeks to dialogue directly with the workshop's participants. Musicians participating in the workshop will have an opportunity to play with either Terrence or Gerry and get feedback and proposals for their musical development. In the course of the process the participant or auditor (non-musician) to the workshop will get an insight into how these two musicians developed such a highly personalized and far reaching musical repertoire.

To book the duo for a master class, contact: terrence@terrence-mcmanus.com